For more than 50 years, Justin Hayward's voice has been heard the world over. Known principally as the vocalist, lead guitarist and composer for the Moody Blues, his is an enduring talent that has helped to define the times in which he worked. This August, Justin embarked on his North American All The Way tour with his trio (Mike Dawes and Julie Ragins), performing material from All The Way, a retrospective of songs from across Hayward's career.

Having started the ball rolling as a songwriter in his own right with a couple of solo singles, Hayward joined the Moody Blues in the summer of 1966. Hitting his stride immediately with the single Fly Me High, he followed it up with the classic hit songs Nights in White Satin and Tuesday Afternoon from the seminal album Days of Future Past. This purple patch showed no sign of abating as Justin created other classic, era and genre-defining hits Question, The Voice, I Know You're Out There Somewhere, The Story In Your Eyes and Your Wildest Dreams. These laid the foundation for the incredible success story of the Moody Blues, as well as his solo work, which continues to this day.

Over the last forty-five years, the Moody Blues have sold 55 million albums and received numerous awards. Commercial success has gone hand in hand with critical acclaim, The Moody Blues are renowned the world over as innovators and trailblazers who have influenced any number of fellow artists. Hayward is honoured with the Moody Blues on the Rock Walk Hall of Fame on Sunset Boulevard and this year the band was inducted into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame.
